

Phil Andrews, GG

HERTIAGE APPRAISER FOR THE MIDWEST REGION

Phil Andrews has more than 12 years of experience appraising jewelry. He attended the University of Dayton, where he obtained his business degree in marketing and management.

Phil was eagerly recruited by his uncle to work full-time into the family jewelry business. He remembers that his uncle always had loose gemstones in the case for customers to design their own unique pieces, and those gems had always intrigued him. He soon made the decision to attend GIA (Gemological Institute of America), where he earned his Graduate Gemologist degree.

Recently, Phil worked for an independent jeweler in the Indianapolis area appraising and purchasing diamonds for their inventory. He joined the team of Heritage Appraisers, Inc. in 2014.

When he isn't hard at work appraising, Phil enjoys spending time with his wife, Gretchen, and their three children.
